

Rockwell collaborates with DRL for rollout of Sputnik V

Will provide freezers for storage of vaccine in India following launch

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 9 June

Rockwell Industries, a commercial cold chain appliances player, is partnering Dr Reddy's Laboratories (DRL) to enable the storage of Sputnik V in India through their vaccine freezers. Sputnik was launched in a limited pilot on May 14, with the commercial launch expected in June.

Rockwell has got orders for 750 freezers from hospitals and institutions. It is set to start exports of these freezers to various countries, including Japan.

The vaccines are temperature-sensitive, and hence require the precise temperature to maintain its potency.

"The freezer plays a very critical role in safety and potency of vaccines. Sputnik has been made available in India through Dr. Reddy's, and requires a temperature range of -18° Celsius to keep the vaccine stable and potent," Rockwell said.

It added that Rockwell has researched on developing vaccine freezers according to WHO PQS (World Health Organisation-Performance, Quality and Safety) standards, and after three years of R&D efforts, the final product was tested in Denmark at a WHO-authorised laboratory. Two different sizes of this freezer were certified. "The freezer can handle various harsh usage conditions in rural locations too and maintain desired temperature range, thus breaking the vaccine cold chain hurdle," Rockwell claimed in a statement.

Alok Gupta, MD of Rockwell Industries, said: "Our technology ensures that Sputnik V's storage management at vaccine centres meets the stringent refrigeration standards set forth by Sputnik V manufacturers."

Rockwell is working closely with DRL to develop and provide wireless internet of things (IoT) based controllers and data loggers which can give access to real time data of temperature and performance for the vaccine freezers, Prateek Gupta, director, Rockwell said. He added they can make around 1,000 machines per day.

The company further added that hospitals like Apollo, Omega, AIG Hospitals are already using these vaccine freezers for vaccine storage. "We are in the process of exporting our Vaccine Freezers to various developed countries including an initial pilot deal with Japan," Gupta added.

Rockwell has two manufacturing sites in Hyderabad with an annual capacity to make 400,000 units.

According to recent data from the WHO, due to the lack of temperature control or continuous cold chain during vaccine transportation, 5-20 percent of vaccines lose their potency.

'Have digitised 2.5 million SMBs, enabled $3 billion in exports'

With Covid wreaking havoc, AMIT AGARWAL, senior vice-president and country head of Amazon India, sees his role as a rare chance amid pandemic to create a meaningful impact on people's lives. In an interview to Peerzada Abrar, Agarwal said the pandemic has provided a structural shift for more customers and small businesses to come online. Edited excerpts:

How do you see the impact and growth of e-commerce and Amazon since the outbreak?

The last 15 months have been challenging, especially the last few weeks. As an organisation, our priority was pivoted towards keeping our employees safe and simultaneously serving the daily lives of customers, partners and small businesses. We're constructing medical oxygen plants in three states and hopefully we would be able to scale that up, based on the learnings. We have committed to promote vaccination costs for over 1 million people. It not only includes staff, dependents and frontline associates, but logistics partners and small businesses too. Small businesses are using Amazon to go online and to go regional, national and even global. We have already digitised 2.5 million SMBs (small, micro and medium businesses), enabled $3 billion in exports and created 1 million jobs since the launch. Last year itself, we estimate 300,000 SMBs to come online through Amazon, and enabled $1 billion in exports, creating 300,000 jobs.

AMIT AGARWAL

Senior VP and country head, Amazon India

Besides Flipkart, JioMart and Tata are also now betting big on e-commerce. Your comments?

E-commerce is really early. It is less than 3 per cent of the overall consumption. There are going to be many winners and business models as we look forward. Competition is good for customers. It offers them a choice and a better service. Our focus has always been on obsessing with customers and inventing on their behalf, and investing long term. We remain paranoid everyday, whether there is competition or not, and that customers will shop with us only until the very moment they find an alternative.

A few trade bodies perceive Amazon and Flipkart a threat to local retailers and have alleged preferential treatment to select sellers. How are you dealing with such concerns?

The right kind of local retailers are embracing technology and seeing growth. Last year, more than 300,000 small businesses came online on Amazon and more than 50,000 local shops joined the 'Local Shops' programme within six months. That number is growing every month. We were so inspired that we announced we would take 1 million local shops online in the next four years. There will always be disgruntled voices who have for some reason chosen not to embrace a very structural disruption happening in the world. The same thing happened when mobile phones came. Probably unhappy about it, but most of the entrepreneurs in India embraced that trend and converted their STD booths into service centres with shopping and printing services. I'm very excited about how entrepreneurs are embracing technology, going online and (building) a more robust digital business. This trend is going to continue.

Phase 3 efficacy data by July, says Bharat Biotech

Bharat Biotech has said the detailed analysis of phase-3 clinical trial data of Covaxin will be made public by July. The firm is also conducting phase-4 trials for real world effectiveness, said reports.

In a series of tweets, Raches Ella, project lead, said the last volunteer of their phase-3 clinical trial (sample size 25,800) was vaccinated in mid-March. "Mandatory CDSCO/FDA requirement of a 2-month safety follow-up for all volunteers landed us in Mid May," Ella said. He said this was the largest efficacy trial conducted in the developing world.
